

Skeleton Psalm

Disciple

I'm feeling numb and I'm breathing kind of desperate
Straightjacket's got me playing all my regrets
I need a miracle drug make me forget
Face down at the bottom of my secrets
Head first tried to dive into a black sun
Cold killer that I never seem to outrun
Can't repair all the beauty that I've undone
Always making room for a new skeleton

I want something more

I need a new love, a liberation
I need a real self revelation
I need to know what I am living for
So tell me everything, give me the meaning
I need a calling more than just a reason
Show me the world you want me reaching for
I need something more
I want something more

I can't live life wishing I could rewind
I can't walk when my feet are stuck on both sides
A double agent or a coward with a weak spine
Excommunicate looking for a compromise
Pull the hammer back hit me with your best shot
I'll take a one way ticket to you non-stop
I want it all give me everything that you got
The full transplant bleeding with a new heart

I want something more

I need a new love, a liberation
I need a real self revelation
I need to know what I am living for
So tell me everything, give me the meaning
I need a calling more than just a reason
Show me the world you want me reaching for
I need something more
I want something more
I need something more
I want something more

I need a new love, a liberation
I need a real self revelation
I need to know what I am living for
So tell me everything, give me the meaning
I need a calling more than just a reason
Show me the world you want me reaching for
I need something more
