

Wake Up

Disciple

So tell me what was the first thing to go
When the numbness had taken control
What lies did you have to go
Tell yourself to not hate yourself

Blind to your reason
Deaf to your wisdom
The static is drowning the song that's driving
The symphony of your soul

Your world is in danger
Your life is in danger
Your house is crumbling down
Everything's about to burn

Wake up, wake up
For the love of God please hear me screaming
Your eyes are open but I know you're asleep at the wheel
And the road is ending
Wake up, wake up

What is your truth
What lies have been whispered to you
That your forces surrendered so soon
The one and only treasure you ever had worth fighting to die for

You can't taste the poison
You can't feel the bleeding
The vapor is choking the breath you breathed in
From the mouth of your God

Your world is in danger
Your life is in danger
Your house is crumbling down
Everything's about to burn

Wake up, wake up
For the love of God please hear me screaming
Your eyes are open but I know you're asleep at the wheel
And the road is ending
Wake up, wake up

Wake up, wake up
For the love of God please hear me screaming
Your eyes are open but I know you're asleep at the wheel
And the road is ending
Wake up, wake up
For the love of God please hear me screaming
Your eyes are open but I know you're asleep at the wheel
And the road is ending
Wake up, wake up, wake up

Wake up
Wake up