

God Of War

Discretion

The flexing of a muscle
The primitive show of strength
The looming burst of temper
The urge to pull the trigger

I'm the craving of the masses
Their yearning for revenge
I'm the arrogance of power
The logic that leads to war

God of war
I've heard your call
Among mere mortals
I walk the earth

To bring the ancient spark
That ignites the fire
Unleash the craving for blood
You can't deny

At the dawn of ruination
The nerves are all on edge
Waiting for the signal
The command to unleash hell

I'm the promise of glory and valour
Of honour and of strength
I am here since the dawn of time
And will be eternally

Bloodstained the earth
Dead bodies all around
Grenades and shells
Tear human flesh apart

Confusion and chaos
Orders go unheard
In this raging madness
You have to stand your ground

Fires of war, forever to flare
Ages of blood, eternal strife

Brute force, no mercy
An unrelenting beat
Run, take cover
The enemy is close

The sun all blurred
By gun smoke and gas
Hours in twilight
The fighting never stops

Fires of war, forever to flare
Ages of blood, eternal strife

God of war

I've heard your call
Among mere mortals
I walk the earth

To bring the ancient spark
That ignites the fire
Unleash the craving for blood
You can't deny