

Darkness Conceals

Dishwalla

We're not the shade we say we are
It's a grey that lies between
In dim light we hide our true desires

You never know what darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed, in the light

The Light

In this dream we've built around
Not ever what it seems
The lies inside you keep
Don't make a sound

You never know what darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed, in the light

Oh, the light
Oh, the light
Oh, tonight, oh

Is it a lie, our true desires?
The colors or the dream?
The brightest eyes can be
Blinded to what is real

You never know what darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed, in the light

I always hurt you
While you only help me
I never listened
But you should have told me
About the colors we keep
That hide a brighter shade of peace
All these colors we keep,
Like secrets so weak

Cause you never know what darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed, in the light

Oh, the light
Oh, the light
Oh, tonight, ohh

You never know what darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed

Darkness conceals
Or what might be revealed,
Tonight
