

When Morning Comes

Dishwalla

feel the burn feel the demons come to mix fill the street with madness - don't lay your hands and lesions over me fall instead where midnight dies and morning comes feel it here the silence

there's so much life here
and so much pain - we forget there's so much life
as morning comes
and its real - the silence

see the sun forever falling let the setback slip through the cracks keep us safe from ever crawling let me know a life so sweet

there's so much life here
and so much pain - we forget
there's so much life
as morning comes
and its real - the silence

say you wanted love and you want it to feel so real forever - well remember why you have come and all the shit that's caving in is gone forever