Start Digging

Dismantled

You'll have to dig through the cold hard ground
To find people like me

They don't make them like this anymore
I'm an obsolete machine

So say goodbye to those empty faces and run to the fields
And start digging the cold hard ground
In hopes you'll find me

Yea start digging

You've been digging for days and nights
Not finding a thing

You can barely see in this fog
And don't realize that I'm right here
I've been watching you work so hard
Trying to get to me

But I don't wanna ruin it for you
And let you believe in me
