In the Cold Winds of Nowhere

Dissection

Search for my subconscious Lead me into myself A need to discover the dark A will to enter these gates Oh, this temptation to end this empty life In my dreams I saw my real side A journey through forever my vision's oh so bright Watching eternity open as I turn out life's light Oh, this temptation to leave this earthly shell Deep inside, the toll of death's bell In the cold winds of nowhere With a sigh I pass away Falling, into harmonic sleep Then I'll find my prophecies wasn't lies Falling, into the abyss I come... I... I am dying... Death... Does heal me... In the cold winds of nowhere