

Tsukuyomi

Distant

Reality is not what it seems to be
We have been compromised
By will of our ancestors
You see the other end?
Tell me the difference
Of what is real
No words can describe if we even exist

We can't deny the strength of our master, keeping us caged in illusion like an animal
This world is insanity

No human can bear this delirious torture, there's no fucking end

Roaming in the dark
Tunnel with no light at the end
Destroyed, piece by piece
Corrupting your mind until its pitch black

What can you see and what you can't
There is no difference between heaven and hell
You don't know what is waiting on the other side of your corrupted mind

Banished, tortured, disgraced by thy sins

Cracking the surface between the two worlds of divine
Witness the almighty sea made by our Father of illusions, hail
Tsukuyomi

Witness the architect
Father, the creator

Consumed from the inside
Consumes from the inside

No human can bear this delirious torture, there's no fucking end