

Collapse

Distinguisher

All I need
I finally have
Now I've got everything
Me, myself, and I
Realize, I don't need you in this life

Now listen to me
Make some time to hear what's torn my core
Everything you ignored
Is knocking down your front fucking door

You can't change what you have brought forth
You can't change what you have brought forth

Always living for everyone else
Kicked down in the dirt
No longer feel the hurt
The collapse of these walls
Is building up my life, not my fall

I've come to terms
That I'm all I need
The inspiration for the evil that feeds

From the start I relied on everyone else
Now I'm in the end I have no one's help
I've come to realize
That no one aims to cure or aid a soul
They attack your weaknesses
And leave you dead in a hole

Live for yourself
You're all you need
Don't look for me

Now listen to me
Make some time to hear what's torn my core
Everything that you ignored
Is knocking you down to the floor

You can't change what you have brought forth
You can't change what you have brought forth

Always living for everyone else
Kicked down in the dirt
No longer feel the hurt
The collapse of these walls
Is building up my life, not my fall (Not my fall)

The collapse of these walls
Is building up my life, not my fall

I've come to realize
I'm all I need
I am all I need

I'm all I need

I'm all I need
All for me
Just me