

Drops Of Blood

Distinguisher

The final nail on the coffin
Hammered down by the architect
I won't forget

I won't forget

Don't know how I let you slip away
Shared smiles to try and hide the pain
Drops of blood that never left a trace
Never thought it would be this way

I won't be there to wish you the best
Cause the person I once knew
No longer exists
I won't be there to wish you the best
Cause the person I once knew
No longer exists

I can't
Let this all go
To waste
But I know
I have to let you go

Consumed by consciousness
So down you go

I watched the dirt swallow you whole
You're not the man I used to know
Disconnected from the world that you once knew
This is bigger than me and you

The final nail on the coffin
Hammered down by you

(Disconnected from the world that you once knew)
This is bigger than me and you
(Disconnected from the world that you once knew)
And now I'm losing myself because

I can't
Let this all go
To waste
But I know
I have to let you go

I can't
Let this all go
To waste
But I know
I have to let you go

Disconnected from the world that you once knew
This is bigger than me and you
Disconnected from the world that you once knew

"If there's is anything I learned from this, is that the people that are mea nt to stay in your life will stay, and that's that"