

Longer Than Forever

Divided By Friday

I thought it couldn't get better than this, but you set me back with just your lips.

Love was just a luxury, a diamond ring I never needed.

Shifting like a fault line since you've been next to me, and all
I had to say was hello.

I'm telling you you're everything I've ever wanted.

You had me from the moment you said hello.

We're holding back the hands of time, however, I know I'm gonna want you longer than forever.

I, you and I, yeah, I can see it; living right L.A. days and New York nights

Life is full of luxury and you're the only one I needed.

Feeling like the world's mine since you've been next to me, and all I had to say was hello.

I'm telling you you're everything I've ever wanted.

You had me from the moment you said hello.

We're holding back the hands of time, however, I know I'm gonna want you longer.

I thought I had it all, but you caught a piece of my heart.

Now you've got it all and I want you to keep it; taking our time, no I don't wanna rush this.

You pull me closer; nothing else could matter.

The world could break tonight and we'd be fine.

Hello, I'm telling you you're everything I've ever wanted.

You had me from the moment you said hello.

We're holding back the hands of time, however, I know I'm gonna
want you longer than forever.