

Shutters

Django Django

Take me, take me I'm yours right here
Make me, tell you my hopes and fears
Our time is decedent, we haven't got a worry
Wanting for nothing, living for the day

Look down, watching the skyline drowned
The streets burn, it's heating up at every turn
I never realised we could be living life so freely
Wanted for nothing, but it's only now that you can see

Said your noticing changes lately
Like nothing before
By the time that we realise
You tell me its fine
But don't seem that sure

You said the coast was clear
You said the road was clear
You held my hopes and fears
Back then we wanted for nothing baby
But it's now that we're paying the price

You knew this day would come around
I knew this day would come around
Now the penny is starting to drop
You said this day would come around
Had the time but still not ready
Now we're paying the price

You knew this day would come around
I knew this day would come around
Now the penny has starting to drop
You said this day would come around
Had the time but still not ready
Now we're paying the price
