

The World Will Turn

Django Django

Close your eyes and rest your head on mine
Our heartbeats chime
One short day before I'm on my way
So say goodnight

And I'll hear you sing my name
And the world will turn once again

Even though my life is mine to live
It stops when you're gone
How you'll grow and rivers always flow
Back home to you

And I'll hear you sing my name
And the world will turn once again