Lazy Love

You are a habit I keep kicking Love is the violence that keep me ticking Take it from me this life's a reason to make my mind insane Soft in the sun and the early morning What are my odds but I keep on yawning Take it from me I need this warning Before I take the plane

And all I ever wanted from this world, it is a lie And all I ever needed in this world, it isn't a lie

Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time

I built a trail that keeps you walking If you need a hand I'll stop talking You don't understand the need that's growing everything to sham e You are a habit I keep kicking Love is the violence that keep me ticking Take it from me this life's a reason to make my mind insane

And all I ever wanted from this world, it is a lie And all I ever needed in this world, it isn't a lie

Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time Lost it in a moment, and I'm falling all the morning And my lazy love keeps sailing through your veins, every time

She's miles away, from the world thats in her head She's miles away, from the world thats in her head, yeah

DMA's