Find a Place

Dodgy

To find a place where I can stop
And lay my troubles down
The hour's calling me in
The final showdown
The confrontations everywhere
The failures to disguise
As the smokescreen lifts it's plain to see
In everybody's eyes

Don't pave the streets with bricks and stones
Don't hide behind battle lines
You've taken me to the end of the road
I know 'cause I read the signs

To find a place where I can cross
And reach the other side
All I had has now been lost
Just need a place to hide

Don't pave the streets with bricks and stones
Don't hide behind battle lines
You've taken me to the end of the road
I know 'cause I read the signs

I know 'cause I read the signs
I know 'cause I read the signs
I know 'cause I read the signs
