Where Shall I Begin

Dodgy

Does showing that I care for you give you the right
To go ahead and treat me like a fool
Does being so mean come natural, have you been it all your life
Can't believe that it could be so cruel

By the time you wonder where I've gone
I'll be heading somewhere on a train
I promised to myself I'd only leave you for the world
Guess that's where I shall begin

The only thing that's holding are the straps upon my back
Friends I've had I count them all, glancing at the track
I've got the world in front of me, I've cut all of my ties
It took me oh so long to see through all of your lies

By the time you wonder where I've gone
My face you'll never see again
I promised to myself I'd only leave you for the world
Guess that's where I shall begin

All I know is where I'm going
I'm moving on from where I've been
Where my light keeps on guiding
Guess that's where I shall begin
Guess that's where I shall begin

All I know is where I'm going
I'm moving on from where I've been
Where my light keeps on guiding

All I know is where I'm going
I'm moving on from where I've been
Where my light keeps on guiding
Guess that's where I shall begin
