

If I Only Had a Brain

Dog Fashion Disco

Nails claw the walls after the sun goes down
Fingertips bleed as the night plays out
The lunatics are running the asylum now
Amidst the pallbearers, postmen and white collar clown

If I only had a brain
Now my heart's a big old grave
Could've been I've gone insane
If I only had a brain

Goodbye tomorrow and inevitable sorrow
I refuse to beg or borrow so fuck you and tomorrow
The future grew dark, an abyss, as black as Jackie Kennedy's funeral dress
Desert Island, shipwrecked soul caged behind arthritic bones

If I only had a brain
Now my heart's a big old grave
Could've been I've gone insane
If I only had a brain

Ever since I forgot to care
It's utter bliss being unaware
Walking towards a speeding train
If I only had a brain

My heart's a big old grave
Jump right in, jump right in
What is this madness that controls the weather?
Shortness of breath, in over my head

The hands of death
Load up your guns
You raped and pillaged
You had your fun
Cold black steel
Gag reflexive
Swallow and fire away

Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten
Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten

Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten
Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten

Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten
Life is but a dream
And dreams will be forgotten
