

Stranger

Doja Cat

We could be strange
At least we're not the same
And we have our right to
It's our right to

You can walk with my cane
And change my last name
Just to know I like you
'Cause I like few (Oh)

And I know you're in my life 'cause everything that is alive's connected
And I believe the weirdest ones survive
You're a trip to them and a vacation to me
And God knows you could be stranger than me
So kiss me like your mirror, eye me like a queer
Nothing you do could freak me out

They calling us names
And every day pray we cave
You're braver than you know (Oh)
You've given so much hope

Yeah
Said chip tooth with a broken nose
5'10" and I don't even need a vodka soda
Call me over to watch some White Lotus
And after maybe we could rearrange the sofas
I need a man with a sense of humor
Beliefs aligned and zen like Buddha
Got equal parts of sex and cuteness
One look in your eyes, it could execute ya
Girls can't tell that he fine off rip
'Cause he don't look like he like dick
But if he liked it, I'd still like him
As a freak, I can admit that and he likes it
With each crowd, we proud we don't fit
And ain't nobody here gets our schtick
So if we split, it'll be like two halves
Ain't nobody in the world got what you have

And I know you're in my life 'cause everything that is alive's connected
And I believe the weirdest ones survive
You're a trip to them and a vacation to me
And God knows you could be stranger than me
So kiss me like your mirror, eye me like a queer
Nothing you do could freak me out

They can wonder why
It's in our nature to be wild
I wouldn't change it for a second
They don't have to get it
Strange and so alive
