

Whenever Forever Comes

Dolly Parton

Whenever forever comes, when darkness shall hide the sun
Ill still be shining with love for you
When glory bells chime, my love will ring true
Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my love will be yours always Whenever forever comes, when all things are said and done
Ill still be feeling the same way I do
Ill be there for you and still wanting you
God gave you to me, and me to you
And you will still be the one whenever forever comes
Well float on a cloud through eternity
Youll gather the stars, you'll give them to me
Ill give you the moon and well replace the sun
Whenever forever comes, whenever forever comes

What would I have ever done had I not had you to love?
Youve given me more than I ever dreamed
Loving you more every day, so it seems
Greater than all other loves I have seen
Its essence will linger on whenever forever comes

Well float on a cloud through eternity
Youll gather the stars, you'll give them to me
Ill give you the moon and well replace the sun
Whenever forever comes, whenever forever comes
