

Picture the Beauty

Domain

Sitting at the window I'm starrng outside
A warm breeze is silently touching me
Renewal is growing inside my chest
I'm wondering (how this could be me)
Like I'm slipping into the past, it's like a childhood dream

This is the way to realize Silently things changing now it wasn't happening before
Simplify your view right now
I' was the way I'd lived my life
Silently life's changing me
Now my emotions running high

A place to be, a place to stay
A place to picture the beauty
Is all what I still find in here
A place so deep, place of relief
Nothing changes the beauty
Picture's painted for my belief

I couldn't deny my first impression 'bout the people
I also tried to understand their simple lives
I thought they're unsophisticated - a lower class!
Not knowing their potential or life purpose?

A place to be, a place to stay
A place to picture the beauty
Is all what I still find in here
A place to be, a place to stay
A place to picture the beauty
Is all what I still find in here
A place so deep, place of relief
Nothing changes the beauty
Picture's painted for my belief