

Halfprice

Domo Genesis

Aye
I've been running around
Focus on the front of us now
With time coming
Pride humbling down
The wind blowing til the summer in town
Wish it could stay a lot longer, but it's funnier how
The path greener wasn't taken, Ain't been done in a while

Came around because the money was piled
For the attention they was craving
Times hungrier, the stomach is growled up
At constant, I seen it all
They sent me through the gauntlet
I mastered these moves
Went through the madness, flew casually smooth
It's just a path to these truths, I'm primed for it

Can't imagine we lose, you can't imagine that Picture me, rolling in the habitat safely
Speaking strictly for where it matters at
I promise you don't even know the half
Don't even waste it

It's non-negotiable
Even when it's holes in the story, still gotta hold you to it

Soon as it show difference in the roles
The true feelings exposed
That's why I tell you, keep your enemies close
At least you know for certain
Nothing ever perfect, I'm aware for sure
Some niggas crave too much attention
Niggas over ate and had a taste that's so expensive

An appetite they couldn't manage
I said my grace as they was preying on me
The air we breathe a little different, there's always something in it
The seasons change, I take what's coming with it
Summer breeze, this shit be sick, it brings you to your knees

And one day I knew I had to come back and get on a merry-go-round
Eat cotton candy and listen to a band concert