

Tough On You

Don Broco

You know too many people saying must be tough on you
I know it wasn't simple Still far too many people telling you that could be you Could be so different
But you walked away
But you walked away
Telling you you're living through all of the pictures
No it's not the same
No it's not

Pretend it isn't so
But it's wearing thin and you're wearing thin
Pretend it doesn't bother you
But it's wearing thin and it's wearing thin

And we ever found another way to pull through
It's wearing thin yeah it's wearing thin
If you ever got another chance to pull through
Would you put it on the line
Would you walk away, would you walk away
Telling me, oh you telling me if we ever found another way to pull through you wouldn't take another shot

Tell me do you know
Do you remember everything that we've been through since school
All our adventures
Know that you remember

Telling me that you believed that we could make it
But you walked away, but you walked away Telling me you couldn't take it if you didn't
No it's not the same

And we ever found another way to pull through
It's wearing thin yeah it's wearing thin
If you ever got another chance to pull through
Would you put it on the line
Would you walk away, would you walk away
Telling me, oh you telling me
if we ever found another way to pull through
you wouldn't take another shot

Pretend it isn't so
Pretend it doesn't bother you

And we ever found another way to pull through
It's wearing thin yeah it's wearing thin
If you ever got another chance to pull through
Would you put it on the line
Would you walk away, would you walk away

Telling me, oh you telling me if we ever found another chance to pull through
you wouldn't take another shot

Would you walk away, would you walk away
Telling me, oh you telling me
Are you telling me that if you got another shot
That you wouldn't take another shot.
