

Grace Is Enough

Don Moen

I can boast to many works
Done out of insecurity
And credit many conversations
To my immaturity
And while I'm misunderstood
You are understanding me
And showing me
How grace is enough

For everything that I've done right
Seems like a thousand I've done wrong
And I keep on losing count
Of all the times my flesh has won
And when the light of Christ that's in me
Is overshadowed by the fall
You're showing me
How grace is enough

When I feel unworthy
And so undeserving

Still I can come, just as I am
For I find Your love
Is free of condition
So I will run to Your wide open arms
Where I am accepted
And I am forgiven
Grace is enough for me
Your grace is enough for me

I've been quick at passing judgment
When I'm worthy of conviction
And the times I've measured virtue
Only based on my religion
But theology it seems
It's not the things that's saving me
You are showing me
A grace that's enough

When I feel unworthy
And so undeserving

Though I was blind, now I see
Sweet is the sound
Of Your grace over me
You said it all on the Cross
Your grace goes beyond
All that I've done

When I feel unworthy
And so undeserving
You love me beyond
All my failing and hurting
It's not who I am
But who I can be
And I know You are working
Your purpose in me

Your grace is enough
More than enough
