

Light Through The Rain

Don Williams

There've been nights I couldn't see
Where the road was takin' me
But somehow grace would find its way
Through the dark to a brighter day

There's light through the rain
Hope in the pain
A whisper sayin' "start again."
When the world feels cold and faith runs thin
The light still finds a way back in
Yeah, there's light through the rain

I've made mistakes, I've lost my way
But I'm still here, I'm still okay
The heart can break, but it can mend
And every fall can rise again

There's light through the rain
Hope in the pain
A whisper sayin' "start again."
When the world feels cold and faith runs thin
The light still finds a way back in
Yeah, there's light through the rain

Sometimes you've gotta stand alone
To find the strength to carry home
And every tear, it clears the view
Till all that's left is truth

There's light through the rain
Peace through the strain
A gentle hand that calls your name
When the storm is gone and the night has waned
You'll see the sun break through again
Yeah... there's light through the rain.
