

I Can Lose

Donavon Frankenreiter

Is there a place I can go
That feels like being in your arms
In your arms
Of □ rock and go
Between the travels in my mind
In my mind
Place I can go, I can slip away
Way back
Trying to find my soul
Is there a place I can escape to
That feels like our first kiss
Whoa, I just wish
And I hope I□m not too late
Cause I can lose everything
But lose you
Oh I can lose everything
But lose you
Is there a place, in the stars the □
So I can see your face, see your face
Somewhere up in the sky I can go run out of things on this window I can trace

Made all, all so dry
But I hope I□m not too late
Cause I can lose everything
But lose you
And when you leave, you□re on the run
Do you remember where you come from?
Like the first day I fell in love with you
Do you remember what I said?
Cause it□s ... to me too
You said, you would never leave
Never leave my sight
But I hope I□m not too late
Cause I can lose everything
But lose you
Cause I can lose everything
But lose you
And I can lose everything
But lose you
And I can lose everything
But lose you
