

Push

Donavon Frankenreiter

Well it's getting late, I've been waiting up,
You come home like you had enough
Tonight could be the night to break us

Always breaking up, then were making up
I'm giving in, then we're making love
I think it's time for you to wake up

And I know it's hard to let go
But this time you can't

Take back everything we said and start again
Your cycle's wearing me out
Your words are enemies, that burn relentlessly,
You can't keep pushing me down

You think you're tough talking about the pain
You're getting knocked down by the waves
Well I think it's time for you to grow up

You were spending time telling all your friends
You're doing fine, I'll be back again
Covering up all the lies you make up

I'm so glad I had to let go
'cause this time you can't

Take back everything we said and start again
Your cycle's wearing me out
Your words are enemies, that burn relentlessly,
You can't keep pushing me down

You may be afraid to love again, Was a fool with my heart,
I kept holding your hand, I kept playing the part,
Just like the things that you fake, I was trying so hard You're sitting on the edge, and you pushed to far

You can't

Take back everything we said and start again
Your cycle's wearing me out
Your words are enemies, that burn relentlessly,
You can't keep pushing me down

Take back everything we said and start again
Your cycle's wearing me out
can't keep pushing me down
can't keep pushing me down
can't keep pushing me down, no