

Wish You Were Here

Donell Jones

I've got this longing for you
Even when I call your name
How I wish you were here
A never-ending story of loneliness and pain
Oh, how I wish you were here

It's been so long since I saw your face
And I'm missing your warm embrace
Recapturing the times that we shared
Oh, baby..., how I wish you were here

Holding hands, feeling your sweet lips
Brings me back to when we first met
What we had was not what we thought it would be
I would let nothing come between you and me

All this time tell me where did it go
You and me, you said we'll always be together
Can't you see how I'm hurting inside
Won't you please
Baby, come back to me, yeah.
