

Kick Inside

Donna Lewis

a little bit of you
a little bit of me
shining somewhere
he breathes in me

a little bit of you
a little bit of me
a sense of motion
near enough to hear

and each day is a surprise wrapped in a world that is bounded by the love of this new life

it's true
conscious only only of you unseen
but free to wander free to be inside inside the water's gentle swell shifting slowly
small waves pushing you

a little bit of you
a little bit of me
flying us off course
spinning out from me

and each day's a surprise when I feel the kick inside and I'll drown in those eyes bounded by the love of this new life beginning

it's true
conscious only only of you
unseen
but free to wander free to be
inside
inside the water's gentle swell there is love
there is richness there is life and you
entering into a cloud of blue
shifting slowly
small waves pushing you

shifting slowly
small waves pushing you