

And Still Run Out Of Time

Donny Osmond

The stars are slowly fading
This night is almost gone
Wish I could keep the day away
And stay here in your arms

If I could turn the clock back
Or even stop the moon
I'd steal another hour
But what good would it do

I could love you 'til forever
For another thousand lives
And still I'd find a way to show you
Everything I feel inside

It's an innerspring emotion
With each little day I find
I could love you til forever
And still run out of time

Might just be a smile
Some little thing you do
And all at once I start to see
A whole new side of you

Girl it's so amazing
That anything could be this strong
Like a river of emotion
That just goes on and on

I could love you 'til forever
For another thousand lives
And still I'd find a way to show you
Everything I feel inside

It's an innerspring emotion
With each little day I find
I could love you 'til forever
And still run out of time

It's an innerspring emotion
With each new day I find
I could love you til forever
I could love you til forever
And still run out of time

And still run out of time