

It's Over

Donots

Let me down, you let me down And i can't say that i'm surprised It's everything that i've seen from you recently

Put me off, you put me off, yeah You dumped me and kept me waiting Soon enough you'll come crawling back to me Thought i could depend on you Just like you depend on me now But that was not to be Taking back the things i didn't say It's over, it's over Breaking up, i gotta break away I can see through you Taking back the things i didn't say It's over, it's over Breaking up, i break away

Turn me down, you turn down And you leave me to count my bruises Friends don't come as easy as your enemies So shame on you, yeah, shame on you For shutting me out like you do I should have known you'd bite the hand that feeds you

Thought i could depend on you Just like you depend on me now But that was not to be So much for your attitude So much for your cheap apologies They will never do Taking back the things i didn't say It's over, it's over now Breaking up, i gotta break away I can see through you Taking back the things i didn't say Believe me, it's over now Breaking up, i break away

And don't come crawling back to me It's over, it's over Crawling back, right back to me

Taking back the things i didn't say It's over, it's over now Breaking up, i gotta break away I see right through you Taking back the things i didn't say It's over, it's over Breaking up, i break away -hey

Taking back the things i should have said It's over, it's over now Breaking up, i gotta break away I can't count on you Taking back the things i didn't say

Believe me, this is the end Breaking up, i break away - alright!