Not Only Should You Love Him

Not only should you love him You should like him, too Why only be a sweetheart Let him count on you

The days you'll be adoring him Will never end Still more important You've become his everlasting friend

Although you might have lost your heart You'll keep your head In time, when love stops burning There'll be warmth instead

Though you start in a wonderful spin Don't end up under his spell Not only should you love him so But like him just as well

Not only should you love him so But like him just as well Doris Day
