

Feel It Coming

Douwe Bob

Got my eyes closed, years flying by Tryna keep my balance walking on a wire
Got a first class ticket on a train, destination nowhere
Tryna light a fire with a little spark
Guess I'm still a little boy, was afraid of the dark
And I'm walking down the road, tryna hitch another ride to nowh ere

And I know, I know I still got a long way to go

Oh, I feel it coming
Just waiting for the stars to align
Oh, I feel it coming
The beginning of the rest of my life

Got my mind in the future and my heart in the past
And it's been broken a couple of times, but pain don't last
If you look a little closer, you can still see the cracks, but they're fading
I used to never really care if I was dead or alive
But that all changed when I looked my little boy in the eyes
I can't wait to see my grandkids at sixty-five and go sailing

I believe that someone is up there watching over me

Oh, I feel it coming
Just waiting for the stars to align
Oh, I feel it coming
The beginning of the rest of my life

And, oh, I know
I've got dreams to remember
And, oh, here we go
There's nothing standing in our way

Oh, I feel it coming
Just waiting for the stars to align
Oh, I feel it coming
The beginning of the rest of my life
