

Summer Breeze

Douwe Bob

Watching the clouds fade, birds on the wind
I know the summer breeze is finally rolling in
Feeling the grass grow under my feet
There just ain't nowhere else where I would rather be

The sun is shining like it knows the score
I hear the waves, they crash onto the shore
And the summer breeze is blowing like it's never done before

How deep the ocean, how great the sky
I see it all when I look into your eyes
Through cracks and changes love finds a way
It takes a life to learn to live from day to day

The sun is shining like it knows the score
I hear the waves, they crash onto the shore
And the summer breeze is blowing like it's never done before

It's never done before
It's never done before
And the summer breeze is blowing like it's never done before
