

Everything Will

Downhere

Every time I walk easy
Something comes around to
Remind me that I'm miles out
Every life has its beatings
And if I suffer now for Something that you have allowed
You'll always be my strength now

It's all right, it's OK
If I lose today
In the end I know you win
It's OK, it's all right
If I lose this fight
In the end I'm expecting that
Everything will go your way

In this patch work your weaving
At times we're meant for flight
At times we're meant to cry out
But now that I am grieving
I cannot hear the wrath
It's hard to see the reason why
But my only peace is at your side

It's all right, it's OK
If I lose today
In the end I know you win
It's OK, it's all right
If I lose this fight
In the end I'm expecting that
Everything will go your way

And in my darkest hour
I will lift my eyes
I'll let out one last cry
And even if you hide
I know just where to go
For the refuge of my soul
And not delusions that
There's nowhere else to go

It's all right, it's OK
If I lose today
In the end I know you win
It's OK, it's all right
If I lose this fight
In the end I'm expecting that
Everything will go your way
Everything will go your way

Maybe not today
Maybe not tomorrow
Maybe not this year
Maybe even not this lifetime
Everything will
Everything will
Everything will

Everything
