

One Small Step

Downhere

Waking up with a cloud in your eyes
You shake it off and then realize
It's a black letter day
You must face it anyway

Oh, I know it's gonna be a hard day
And you won't come out of this the same, no
But my love will be your strength for tonight
We'll take it one small step two at a time
One small step

So I pick up this cross and wear it
No you will not have to slowly bear it
I will suffer along with you
Be the heart of of your point of view

Oh, I know it's gonna be a hard day
And you won't come out of this the same, no
But my love will be your strength for tonight
We'll take it one small step two at a time
One small step

And if there's nothing more I can do
Can I just stay ere with you?

And in the silence we'll find
Comfort divine

They say that time heals all wounds
But the scar will become a small part of you
There will come a day when I see your smile
It'll be deeper and stronger and I'll know why

Oh, I know it's gonna be a hard day
And you won't come out of this the same, no
But my love will be your strength for tonight
We'll take it one small step two at a time
One small step
You and I
One small step
One small step
One small step
One small step
One small step
You and I
One small step