

Hang-Up

Downplay

Her eyes reflecting a thousand lights in the morning light
With a face so blind she wakes the sun
And she laughs and ruins a thousand nights
'Cause they know they're not the one, they know they're not the one
And she let's her hair down and they wonder why
They wonder why she's still alone, they wonder why she's been passed by
When no one gives her reply
She's just alone in her own place in the sun

And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here
And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here

And I'm searching every night in vain (night in vain)
Just to leave wasted and alone again (lone again)
And she's sitting in the sun (in the sun)
And she'll be there 'til she's done ('til she's done)
She's running through my head (running through my head)
And she's running through my head

And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here
And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here

I'll wait for you if you want me to
I'll be right, be right here
I'll be right here, be right here
I'll be right here, here

And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here
And I'll wait for you if you want me to
I will be right, be right here
