

Everything

Downstait

We were sure about everything,
The future would last; left me alone on the floor
Now everything, everything, everything
I adore is dead to me
Hold it inside, lock it up, walk out the door
I've got everything, everything, everything, everythin
But you, but you
I've got everything, everything, everything

But you moved on like everything meant not a dime
I slipped through the cracks of your soul
Now everywhere I have gone reminds me of
Your soft voice, it's tough to be Strong at a time when I have got no one at all
I'm haunted by memories lingering
Right down the hall and I just can't stand from the fall

Devastating,
Contemplating
Ending
Fading

Go, I'm just a shell of myself
The rest of me seems to be
Stabbed in the heart, alone in the dark
I'm losing it all, you were everything, everything

Three small words, escaping me, burned in my mind
Suppressing the need to feel something I can hold everynight
Think back to when we met, we meant to be perfectly whole
But that's not the case anymore, destroying my falsified hopes inside
Knowing they won't ever grow into anything at all

Devastating
Contemplating
Ending
Fading

Go, I'm just a shell of myself
The rest of me seems to be
Stabbed in the heart, alone in the dark
I'm losing it all, you were everything, everything

We were sure about everything,
The future would last; left me alone on the floor
Now everything, everything

Go, I'm just a shell of myself
The rest of me seems to be
Stabbed in the heart, alone in the dark
I'm losing it all, you were everything, everything
Go, I'm just a shell of myself
The rest of me seems to be
Stabbed in the heart
Alone in the dark
I'm losing it all, you were everything, everything