

We Decide

Dr. Steel

This great big world
Spreads its great big arms
Sometimes for a warm embrace
Or intending to do harm

And our minds soak it all up
And we label everything
Because we're subjects to the programs
Of the ancient human being

All you think you are
Everything you want to be
Is only happening
In your reality.

Cause we decide it
We decide it
We decide It and so
We reap what we sow

And a trillion miles away
In uncharted galaxies
Swirl the fabric of your thoughts
Manifesting fantasies

But we
Focus on destruction
Money and corruption
Until we've found ourselves
Buried in the ground

May our dreaming never die
May our dreaming never die

Cause we decide it
We decide it
We decide It and so
We reap what we sow
