Hero's Return

Dragony

Believed he had fallen
In the breath of the beast
But he is back now, the lion released

Fate hath no leashes to tame his wild heart
Desire for greatness his soul shall impact

See, the hero is back
Back from the grave
See how he rises, audacious and brave
See the fate earned, the evil one burned
It is the dragonslayer's return

Riding the tempest
From the depths of the night
Sound all the trumpets, the beacons ignite!
Living forever in the song of the dead
Returning in splendour
The message be spread!

The tide of destruction
Is stemmed by his sword
The chosen is back now, all hail our lord

See, the hero is back
Back from the grave
See how he rises, audacious and brave
See the fate earned, the evil one burned
It is the dragonslayer's return

Hail! Hail the one, hail our lord
Praise his kingdom restored!
Hail the one, hail our lord
Praise and grant his just reward!

As the darkness claims our land
We must brave them, and make a stand
With the fires burning on high
Where the fallen angels lie

See, the hero is back
Back from the grave
See how he rises, audacious and brave
See the fate earned, the evil one burned
It is the dragonslayer's return
