

Trapped In My Head

DRAIN

Trapped in my head
Trapped in my head
Trapped in my head
Trapped in my head
Trapped in my head
Trapped in my head
When will it end?
When will it end?
When will it end?
When will it end?
When will it end?
When will it end?

This place where I used to lay my head at night
No longer feels like that place called home
Sometimes I only feel like I'm comforted
When I'm drunk or I'm out alone
Stressed I can't think
Phone makes my ears ring
I can barely breath
I'm losing it inside
This place where I reside
It's poisoning my mind
I've learned the old ways
Are not my ways
I'm not here to stay
Smothered by my family
Tired of my friends
I'm never ever going back
Back again
Back again
Back again
Back again

I'm trapped in my head
Trapped in my head

Forced to think that what they say is right
Sometimes I'm weak and I lose my own sight
These closed minds are a cancer to my own
One day I'll find a place to call my own home
Constant bickering about petty shit
Don't tell me about it, I don't wanna hear it
This negative energy is taking a toll on me
But I'll be the man on the top, eventually Eventually
Eventually
Eventually
Eventually