

All Because Of Love

Drake Bell

All because of love

I sit by my window waiting for the sun
I knew right then you were the only one for me

The sun, it rises like a dove
And it's all because of love
All because of love

I sit by my window staring at the rain
I knew right then I'd never feel the same again

The sun, it shines down from above
And it's all because of love
All because of love

I'm flying on this plane
Am I the one to blame for finally feeling free?
Crash into the sea
Or fly into the trees
All because of love

Now she's a widow staring at a grave
Wiping all her tears because she couldn't save me

The sun, it shines down from above
And it's all because of love
All because

The sun, it rises like a dove
And it's all because of love
All because of love
