

Leaves

Drake Bell

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore?
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

Is it brave to be this honest
Say that you're just so damn gorgeous
And you had me from a mile away?
And there's no point in pretending
Though the things that I could see
Now that I know, you know that I think you're beautiful

Pretty little heartbreak
I wanna feel what's coming around you
Pretty little breakdown
I wanna feel what's coming around you

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wanna make her talk to me
I wanna make her talk to me

Now it's the middle of the night
And I haven't slept for days
'Bout to lose my mind
Just waiting for the change

And the story of my life
'Cause I think about the best things to say
Every single time
You've ever walked away

I don't wanna hear anymore that I've got to know
I don't wanna say anymore that I have to know, know, know

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me?
I wonder how many waves are gonna have to crash on the shore
Before I hear your sweet voice and your melody?

I wonder how many leaves are gonna have to fall to the ground
Before my phone even makes a sound
And then you talk to me