

Nothing Good Happens After Midnight

Drake White

After midnight's when the bottles are empty
And the candles are burning out
After midnight's when the moonlight gets to me
And the world starts winding down
And I take your hand and we dance down the hall
To the rhythm of our own love song

They say nothing good happens after midnight
But that's something I just don't believe
'Cause that lovin' that your givin' feels so right
Last thing I'd ever wanna do is leave
And I just wanna stay right here
'Till all the stars in the sky disappear
When I'm still holdin' on to you in the morning light
I can't say nothing good happens after midnight

I ain't stumbling drunk down on Broadway
I ain't having one to many beers
Yeah the only trouble calling out my name
Is your smile saying' "baby come here"

They say nothing good happens after midnight
But that's something I just don't believe
'Cause that lovin' that your givin' feels so right
Last thing I'd ever wanna do is leave
And I just wanna stay right here
'Till all the stars in the sky disappear
When I'm still holdin' on to you in the morning light
I can't say nothing good happens after midnight

And they can say what they want
Yeah we're just having fun
And tomorrow night we'll do it all again

They say nothing good happens after midnight
But that's something I just don't believe
'Cause that lovin' that your givin' feels so right
Last thing I'd ever wanna do is leave
And I just wanna stay right here
'Till all the stars in the sky disappear
When I'm still holdin' on to you in the morning light
I can't say nothing good happens
Nothing good happens after midnight
