Drake

Yeahhh

I'mma start this off like you would do it

Uhh

Uhh

[Drake - Verse]

Look I stands out

So don't think this ain't some shit that I done planned out

And life is beautiful as ever when it pans out

And girls are beautiful until they want a hand out

But, ask apple how I get it though

I'll be on the phone with a bitch that you will never know

So you can son me never

I don't get bitter, I just get better

And a verse is just a verse for me

I keep it generic and these niggas take it personally

If I was in a room and someone yelled, "Hey bitches!"

I would never turn around cause I just don't fit the description

But that's just me though

But don't mind him girl, that's just Freako

Please don't cuss girl, that don't suit ya

His name 40 and his name future

Oliver's here and you know me ho

I'm the cash cow front man of O.V.O

I am not doing features now, no means no

And the hate starts building the more we grow

Damn shame am I over-expressing the game

Should I hold back on addressing the lame

Because they becoming obsessed with my name

I'm trying to clean up my mess and explain

And boy you know my progression insane

My engineer is the best in the game

And every since I've been messing with Wayne

People getting jealous I can see they expressions have changed

They seemed to love me when this shit was going nowhere

And now they got a bunch of feelings that they won't share

They just give me the fuck it I'm broke stare

And Drake was at the club and he bald like no hair

Living life from a whole different angle

Only see the road through the wings of an angel

And I can see the heart on your sleeve

And I know this shit is hard to believe

You gone have to get over it

And all you talking ass niggas get over it

And all you people that be hating get over it

And all you women that I fucked get over it

And yea I'm turning 22 get over it

You know you got to hear my records get over it

My whole team getting rich get over it

I got the city on my back get over it

Get over it, get over it

[Outro - Drake]
