Things have been so crazy and hectic, I should have got her bac k by now

But you know how much I wanted to make it, It's probably better

So if you gotta go, if there's anything I should know If the spotlight makes you nervous

If you're looking for a purpose

You put the tea in the kettle and light it

Put your hand on the metal and feel it

But do you even feel it anymore?

I remember when you thought I was joking

Now I'm off singing karaoke

Farther than I've ever been

So if you gotta go, if there's any way I can help

Isn't it ironic that the girl I wanna marry is a wedding planne

And tells me that my life is too much and moves to Atlanta?

Of all the places you could go

I just thought you'd choose somewhere that has somebody that yo

I'm always up too late, I worry about you there alone

And that place you call your home, warm nights and cold Patron I hope you don't get known for nothing crazy

Cause no man ever wants to hear those stories about his lady I know they say the first love is the sweetest

But that first cut is the deepest

I tried to keep us together, you were busy keeping secrets Secrets, you were telling everybody but me

Don't be fooled by the money, I'm still just young and unlucky I'm surprised you couldn't tell..

I was only trying to get ahead I was only trying to get ahead But the spotlight makes you nervous And you're looking for a purpose I was only trying to get ahead I was only trying to get ahead But the spotlight makes you nervous