

I got this feeling; it's electrical
And I been meaning to tell you all about it
So plug me in and turn me on
I'm counting down
'Cause we don't have long
Oh...

Something tells me that you're not sorry, oh no no
Can you hear that the clock's still ticking on and on
I can tell that you're not looking very far
It's electrical, electrical
It's so electrical

As these falling leaves drop to the ground
And the rising tide causes us to drown
We can burn these riches and cast out our crowns
But it stays the same
Nothing will ever change

Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change

Something tells me that you're not sorry, oh no no
Can you hear that the clock's still ticking on and on
I can tell that you're not looking very far
It's electrical, electrical
It's so electrical

As these falling leaves drop to the ground
And the rising tide causes us to drown
We can burn these riches and cast out our crowns
But it stays the same
Nothing will ever change
As these falling leaves drop to the ground
And the rising tide causes us to drown
We can burn these riches and cast out our crowns
But it stays the same
Nothing will ever change

Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
Nothing will ever change, nothing will ever change
