

Natural Selection

Drax Project

Hold up
Rewind
Run it back
Speak your mind
Open up
Bite my tongue
Think I like, where you're coming from
Something's making me uncomfortable
I can't explain but it's not cool
My head ain't feeling quite level
I'm losing it, nothing new
You're everything imaginable
But I can't manage your perfect design

Display of perfection
A model of natural selection
A problem; out of 10 you're 11
It's true

So what's the catch?
No way I'm believing you're
Over here with no strings attached
But you're bad
And I don't wanna leave alone
I don't really think we should talk

'Cause there's something, oh
There's something natural about it
Oh something natural
Oh there's something natural about it

Made up my mind
I'm just going with your ride
No mirage or illusion
Like a diamond only human, now
Something's untheoretical, body incomprehensible
Nothing I can compare, what you do to me is more than physical Somehow (somehow can't figure out)
You're everything imaginable
But I can't manage your perfect design

Display of perfection
A model of natural selection (of natural selection)
A problem; out of 10 you're 11
It's true

So what's the catch?
No way I'm believing you're
Over here with no strings attached
But you're bad
And I don't wanna leave alone
I don't really think we should talk

'Cause there's something, oh
There's something natural about it
Oh something natural
Oh there's something natural about it

I don't really think we should talk
'Cause there's something, oh
There's something natural about it

I don't really think we should talk
'Cause there's something, oh
There's something natural about it