

F.E.A.R

Dream On, Dreamer

As darkness closes in, the sun burns the horizon
And I'm feeling lost again
There's nothing left for you to say
I screamed for help so loud but no one came
The ones you trust have run away
All I do is play this endless game
A thousand tiny splinters in my heart
Is there a reason that it's all so fucked?

(Is there a reason that it's all so fucked?)
(Is there a reason that it's all so fucked?)

Tired of facing this cold world
Will we always be alone?
Fight the feelings on my own
Can you hear me?
Wake me up from the nightmare

There's nothing left for me to say
It seems so clear and then begins to fade
I promised you I'd find a way
Caught up feeling that it's all in vain
There's a cut inside the wound you left
Told you I love you but your heart was shut
I'll ask you one more time with all I've got
Is there a reason that it's all so fucked?

Tired of facing this cold world
Will we always be alone?
Fight the feelings on my own
Can you hear me?

You always said it's my fault that you're lost
And I hold out my hand but you run
It's not fair that I'm here
I'm stuck in your hell
Could you wake me up from the nightmare?

Pouring down like hell is upon us
Open the gates, we'll be
The end of suffering

All I'm left with is visions of bloodshed
Clouds of terror darken the skies
Raining arrows piercing immortals
Fallen angels stand in defiance

Tired of facing this cold world
Will we always be alone?
Fight the feelings on my own
Can you hear me?
Wake me up from the nightmare

So tired of facing this cold world
Will we always be alone?
Fight the feelings on my own
Can you hear me?

Wake me up from the nightmare