

Surrender

Dream On, Dreamer

Shed your lies and your sins
Become a god with the eye in between

Close your eyes and imagine, despair
But I keep it to myself
Went searching for heaven, but found hell
Is there someone that can help?
Seems like maybe in daylight I forget this part
It's like an arrow sinking in my heart
I'm holding out for answers
Hiding in the dark
But there is nothing left here for you

Surrender is hard
When it's everything you're not
When the damage is done
And you've been here for too long
Cause I can never understand it
Why we're out here playing god
Now I'm only understanding
That we'd give it all just to fix what's broken

You keep failing to mention
The truth is, haven't worked it out just yet
We're so disconnected to what's real
Do I even know myself?
You're just pulling teeth for the sake of it
Making things up as you see fit
What if we could go back again
So you'd see that you're colour-blind to the times
Said you were a friend of mine, true lies
I would never tear you down, go find
It's about time you decide to change your life

Surrender is hard
When it's everything you're not
When the damage is done
And you've been here for too long
Cause I can never understand it
Why we're out here playing god
Now I'm only understanding
That we'd give it all just to fix what's broken

Now we've come to face ourselves
Seen another fire burning
Know there's hope in the dark
This death is how you find yourself
Let it bleed, til you feel at ease

Surrender is hard
When it's everything you're not
When the damage is done
And you've been here for too long
Cause I can never understand it
Why we're out here playing god
Now I'm only understanding
That we'd give it all just to fix what's broken

Surrender is hard
When it's everything you're not
When the damage is done
And you've been here for too long
Cause I can never understand it
Why we're out here playing god
Now I'm only understanding
That we'd give it all just to fix what's broken