

I'm getting drunk on these memories
The opportunity in front of me
All these moments I've only dreamed of
The life I've dared to lead

I'm fixated on the what if, the could have, the should have been
My head is racing, heart is palpitating
You see that everything is temporary
We see it everywhere, oh
People, places, seasons, feelings
So why do we even care
Why do we even care

I'm getting drunk on these memories
The opportunity in front of me
All these moments I've only dreamed of
The life I've dared to lead

What is meant for you, it won't pass by Taking these moments, making them mine
No longer begging for people to see me and hear me out (hear me out)
Learning no one else will aid me, we only have ourselves

I'm getting drunk on these memories
The opportunity in front of me
All these moments I've only dreamed of, the life I've dared to lead
I swear I'll give this everything
I'm sacrificing more than I'll admit
Can't erase you
Never forget you
Imprinted in my skin

They say you don't know what you've got, you don't know what you've got 'til it's gone
They say you don't know what you've got, you don't know what you've got 'til it's gone
They say you don't know what you've got, you don't know what you've got 'til it's gone, it's gone
They say you don't know what you've got, you don't know what you've got 'til it's gone

I'm getting drunk on these memories
The opportunity in front of me
All these moments I've only dreamed of, the life I've dared to lead
I swear I'll give this everything
I'm sacrificing more than I'll admit
Can't erase you
Never forget you
Imprinted in my, imprinted in my skin
